Here is a rare nostalgia car by honorable menção: a fury of '57 plymouth with a 318 V-8, double-barrel double carbohydrates, three-speed automatic torque-flake speeds and squeeze differential of 831/44 inches. How 150-more mph with four people in the car sound? Jeff Hoelzelallentrown, pa.it sounds hard to believe. Although the engine tendency does not test this exact model in '58, it is safe to say that the car's maximum speed was limited to less than 150 mph by the three-speed transmission and the maximum engine rpm. The fury was available with a 150 mph velocimeter, which may have been more than an optimistic tad, since the real maximum speed probably was no more than 120 mph. For his time, however, the most powerful fury was between an elite group of production cars in normal size, with heat. . I would be willing to bet my speed limiter that most MT readers find staged events such as the July high-speed article to be just convenient excuses for hot-stem the floor of a lot of performance cars. Steve Dejacimolaaugt, nev. And why not? Any excuse to drive a performance car is a good one. The positive response to our hood history was overwhelming, which has thoughts of more ways to exploit the latest production machinery. -I was not the vert to end all the tests ("Virtual Velocity")? Mark WilsonCambridge, Mass.Nolfally, both the 968 and Stealth were unavailable at the time of the test, but both would surely have become in respectable numbers. In the past, we recorded a maximum speed of 154.6 mph at the Twin-Turbo Stealth. And although we have not had the opportunity to push a 968 at its limit, Porsche publishes a maximum speed of 156 mph for 968, when equipped with six-speed transmission. The Ford GT probe did not make your list of participants in high-speed shooting "Virtual Velocity", even with the speed secret of \$ 1.98 applied. I wanted to know, how close to the 140 mph cut arrived? C. Martinpittsburgh, PA.We recorded a maximum speed of 133 mph with a FORD GT probe during our 1994 Bang test for Buck (August 94). Close, but no cigar. . With regard to this former driver, his July issue was unfriendly. With radar, CB rents and cell phones, what is a 100 more mph car doing on the road? Trailer truck drivers and funeral houses Busy enough. J.B. Maasskankakee, Ill.viper GTS discovered your July question was another of Dodge's announcements (pages 58-59) with a car under a canvas. What is underneath? A Chrysler Atlantic? Brad Hansenmuscatine, Covered Iowathe is a glimpse of teaser from the expected Viper GTS vipe loved the 1950s style and design style and design. I remember sneaking a peak under the screens of new vehicles while they were seated in an automotic carrier. Was this exciting or what? Someone said that nowadays if a specific design is successful, then the other manufacturers will follow. I would soon put a set of wheels and a motor in a boiled egg and drive it - at least one egg looks like an egg. I believe that the automakers and designers should take a little risk from time to time. I know it's their perception of the future, but recently it looks like the future stood. Gary Luterlas Vegas, Nev. If I had a dollar for every time I could not identify the year of a car, I would be able to buy that Ferrari F355 you were driving. It is not difficult to identify the year, but also the model. For example, the only visual difference between a V-6 Camaro and a V-8 Z28 is the escape and a small emblem. As each generation produces less car enthusiasts, the government has an easier time regulating automable, centering the issuing tests and crushing old cars. Most Xers do not love cars as boomers did; They are more concerned about power estate than the potency. If my engine had half the power of some of these systems estourn, I would be running Warren Johnson for Prostock's title! Being a 27-year-old gen-xer, I always thought I grew up in the wrong end. Scott Windlephiladelphia, Pa.end of A Agechevrolet Caprice, Buick Roadmaster and Cadillac Fleetwood: These models are part of our automotive culture. Now they are at risk of becoming a part of the automotive full control of traditional normal size markets, limousine, taxi, polish, car car and coach. In addition, people carrying boats or trailers will have to buy ford or buy trucks. People in Ford must be making Cartewards in anticipation to the market that GM is delivering them in a silver dish. Dale Staffordleavenworth, Kan.Sad, but true. After the model '96 model, the production installation for these large GM sedans will be exchanged to build trucks. . Dreams of Disappointing Electric Shoodit that his May 20095 Washington relative findings of study in electrical vehicles (EVS). There is a wealth of information in the study of 137 pages including: "EVS produces virtually no tailpipe emissions and the liquid effect on air quality - the savings of reducing tailpipe emissions less emissions additional chimrims associated with increasing electricity generation - is generally considered to be significantly lower than [internal combustion engine] vehicles]. "As for cost, EVS are still largely in the demonstration phase. $\tilde{A} \in$ measure that production volumes increase, costs will decrease proportionately. The Industry EV in guick development is preparing to meet the needs of consumers. Within the contrary of your perspective, on a complete reading of the Gao report, the Industry EV finds its general support of support. ROBERT T. HAYDENNEXECUTIVE DirectorElectric Vehicles Association SÃ £ o Francisco, Calif. The issue saw many cars that are lowered, similar to race cars, and I heard that engineers' design? If so, is the change meaning? What are the benefits and disadvantages of lowering your car? Jodonn P. Diazlemon Grove, Calif.an The unknown owner can enter problems easily downloading a car. As with many other aspects of a vehicle, the height of the stock is the trial of the ideal balance engineers among many factors, including soil liberation, the quality of the ride, and Entry / Saúda.
